Legal High advocates may recall the ancient Greeks when people would flock to the Oracles of Greece where priestesses would provide them the prophesies they seek. Or yet, one can surely recall that artistic scene in the contemporary popular Hollywood film "300", showing us a wholesome portrayal of a beautiful woman (priestess) muttering words that only her guardians could understand and would relay the message to those who seek them while the woman absorbed in her own world, dancing to the music inside her head. Theorists suggested after some intelligent investigation that the phenomena, those of the Oracles and the depiction in the movie, are the manifestations of humans who get highly influenced by some hallucinogenic components in their bodies, plus their reputation as one of the learned individuals in their city.
